March 24, 2020

Dear Seminole State College Students,

I hope this message finds you in good health and coping with our ever-changing lives as a result of the COVID 19 pandemic.

I wanted to reach out to you personally to tell you how very sorry we are for the disruption of your Spring, 2020 semester at Seminole State College. Your instructors, along with supportive administrators and staff, are working diligently to protect your safety and help you complete this current academic year.

While online, virtual and electronic delivery of classes are not the same methods most of you signed up for this term, they have become the current reality. I want to encourage you to STAY ENGAGED with your educational experience during the coming weeks and finish the semester. Communicate with your instructors as much as possible. Check your emails often since they are our standard method of staying in touch. Whether you are an athlete, a concurrent, distance-ed, traditional, or a non-traditional student, we want to address your special needs in completing your academic studies this Spring. Many people on our campus are standing ready to help you overcome any obstacles you may have. Please reach out if you know of ways we can help you.

I know we all are experiencing fatigue in processing what is happening in the world around us. Please know that we are here for you – and want you to be successful.

You are an important member of the Seminole State College family. Stay diligent in being safe.
